Innovative Teaching Using Technology

Online Educator Training – How to incorporate e-learning tools in your teaching

- ❏ Do you want to teach effectively and engage your students outside the classroom?
- ❏ Add flexibility to your teaching?
- ❏ Communicate with your students using technology?
- ❏ Improve the organization and efficiency of your teaching?
- ❏ Learn more about e-learning?

This course can help make that happen!

Target Audience 👉

This course is designed for educators and professionals who would like to integrate technology into their teaching, either within the classroom or when moving from classroom-based teaching to teaching online. The aim is to equip participants with knowledge and hands-on experience of a variety of technologies and applications that can improve their teaching methods and flexibility

Course Summary

This course introduces technologies and applications that can be used for education. In particular, Google applications are extensively covered across 4 of the topics. Each topic is independently run so knowledge of the previous week's materials is not required.

Topics Covered

- ❏ Introduction to e-learning
- ❏ Introduction to Google
- ❏ Online collaboration & writing
- ❏ Using video conferencing in your teaching
- ❏ Obtaining feedback using Google Forms
- ❏ Effective Presentations

How is it taught?

You can choose to do this course exclusively online through the use of videos, PowerPoints, articles and links to online material OR by attending the face-to-face classes Fridays 2:30 – 4:30 which will cover the same material but with guidance (minimum of 5 participants needed for each face-to-face session).
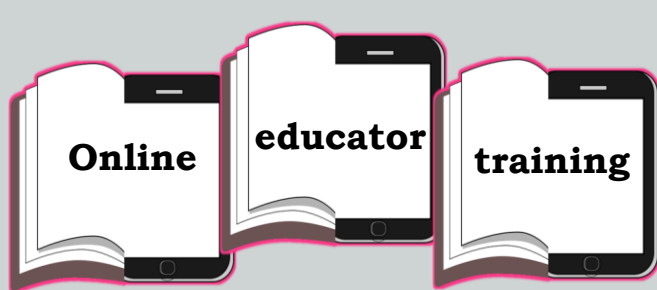

Course structure

The course is run over eight weeks, requiring an investment of two to three hours per week, which includes time for activities and a reflection. The first topic is compulsory, "Introduction to e-learning", but the other topics are optional - you select which ones you would like to do.

Cost & CPD points 👉

The course is supported and funded by the Department of Health Sciences Education at UCT and is offered free of charge. You will receive up to 4 CPD points for completed topics (maximum of 16 CPD points).
