Speaker series #1: INNOVATION IN HEALTHCARE

Have you ever had an idea to improve healthcare? Would you like to learn how to turn your idea into a reality?

You're in good company. We're round pegs in square holes and crazy enough to believe that changing the world is possible. With the speaker series, we'd like to convince the unconvinced, cynical, unsure, disbelieving and unconverted. We're unapologetically optimistic about the potential for innovation in health. This is your chance to connect with other students and professionals from different fields to engage with the challenges facing the health sector.

Most importantly, we hope that whatever your field of study, you'll bring your ideas for innovation to sit in the front row, dance on the tables, take over the boring conversations about constraints, and be unleashed into the universe. We invite you all to embrace this new student-driven forum.

WHAT IS THE BIG DEAL ABOUT HEALTH INNOVATION?

Join the conversation on 15 May with Dr Francois Bonnici, director of the Bertha Centre for Social Innovation and Entrepreneurship, UCT medical graduate, Rhodes Scholar, Fellow of the World Economic and active visionary, who will share his views on the role of innovation in healthcare.
