Introduction

In Vula, each person has a unique profile that provides personal details and contact information. By default, UCT staff and students have their names and UCT email address loaded automatically from the central UCT records. Guest accounts only reflect an email address until they are edited.

It is advisable to update your profile when you first login, and when necessary thereafter, so that the information provided is current and accurate. This is important because your profile provides other Vula users with your details and it tells the system where to send your messages and site notifications.

Please note that other Vula users (such as lecturers and site owners) cannot edit your profile. For security reasons, only you may edit your profile.

The Profile tool also allows you to search for others users in Vula and, if you have are a guest user, to update your password.
